ACU New Course for 2015
Bachelor of Biomedical Science will be introduced in 2015 (subject to final approval) at the Melbourne campus next year.
A number of streams are proposed, and students will choose to undertake either the core biomedical stream, or one of the following:
• The pharmaceutical industry stream would suit students who wish to work in regulation, sales, marketing, or education about drugs. It is neither a pharmacy degree nor a precursor for a pharmacy degree.
• The medical technology industry stream would also be suitable for students who wish to work in the industry in an education, sales, marketing, advocacy, regulatory role or similar.
• The communication stream would suit those students wanting to work in medical/science journalism, patient advocacy, consumer health forum work, or developing consumer programs with a health focus.
• The science education stream is on the table for discussion, but not confirmed as yet.
• For more information, visit:
